Usual turn-around time for processing is up to three weeks from wedding date, although photographer may extend processing time during busy season.

Although utmost care will be given with the creation of digital images, photographer limits any liability for loss, damage or failure to deliver images as a result of any mechanical or equipment malfunction or photographer error to the return of payments made. Wedding couple agrees by individual signature that they understand this is a binding legal agreement, and they have viewed photographer's website and/or viewed photographer's products in person and are comfortable with photographer's style and quality of work. If, in the estimation of the wedding couple, photographer has not made a reasonable effort to deliver quality photographs, after determination by a court of law, wedding couple agrees maximum liability for photographer is limited to payments made. After photography is completed, digital images will be transferred to dual external hard drives for archiving purposes. Mechanical failure of hard drives happens, and photographer does not guarantee extended storage of photos. Wedding couple also agrees not to hold photographer responsible for poor photographs made in inclement weather conditions.

Upon receipt of deposit and signature, photographer reserves the time and date agreed upon, and will not make other reservations for that time and date. All deposits are non-refundable, even if the date is changed or photography is cancelled for any reason.
